THE DAYTONA

Devoted to the Interests of Daytona Beach and Seabreeze

MODLY NUMBER OF BUILDINGS ERECTED

TOTAL VALUE OF BUILDINGS
PUT UP IN DAYTONA BEACH
SINCE AUGUST. 15 EXCEEDS
THE $25,000 MARK.

At least the builders can have no
trouble to find with the present season
in Daytona Beach. The total value of buildings for which permits have been issued since the 15th of August is approximately $25,045.
The sum makes nearly $50 per cent for improvements and addition-
building in a period of four months.
New dwelling houses and bungalows averaging $1,900 in cost have been started since the middle of August. $2,000 has been put out in addition and repairs and one business
block costing $1,500 has been built.
These facts show that the type of dwelling house going up on the peninsula is slowly rising in value each year. Six or eight seasons ago the cost of the average house on the beach side of the river was far below the thousand-dollar mark. This rising increase is also a proof of the growing faith of our land owners in improvements of Daytona Beach real estate.

PLEASANT DAYS-- MORE AIR-FLIGHTS

Ruth Law was out again Thursday afternoon cutting capers over the peninsula. Several times in the later hours of the day the aviatrix turned somersaults in the Seabreeze sky to the wonderment of all who watched.
The daring young lady flew at the highest altitude that she has attained
for some time, rising up to the neighborhood of 4,000 feet. At such a height
her machine was barely discernable
on account of the sun's brightness.

DAYTONA BEACH OFFICERS TO ENFORCE LIGHT ORDINANCE

In the future the ordinance specifying the number of lights which automobiles must have at night will be strictly enforced. This law reads that all autos must have two side lamps
and one rear light whether they are in motion or are standing.

Daytona Beach is the most marvelous beach in the world.

DAYTONA BEACH LOCALS

E. E. Ramsey left Thursday afternoon to spend a few days in the state
metropolis on a short business trip.

A. Vande Vord has been engaged in laying the foundation for the fifth bungalow which W. W. Marshall is having erected in Marshall Park.

Mrs. W. E. Andrews, of Shelton, Conn., came in Thursday night and
will spend the winter with her brother,
E. D. Waldron, on Peninsula drive.

Miss M. J. Browning has been spending the summer in Asheville, N.
C., and returned here Wednesday and will stay for the winter at the Pinehurst on Peninsula drive.

Beach residents have been out after
holly for the Christmas decorations.
The beautiful tree grows very profusely in the southern part of Daytona Beach, where many parties have been in search of it.

J. A. Crews, the traveling representative of the Florida Times-Union,
whose face is well-known from Fernandina to Key West, was a beach visitor for a few hours today in the interests of his paper.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Bennett, of Brooklyn, N. Y., arrived late Tuesday night and are pleasantly located in the Oyama apartments for the winter. Mr. and Mrs. Bennett spent the season here two years ago.

Col. and Mrs. W. M. Shaffner left Thursday to spend the Christmas week-end in Lakeland with Mrs. Grammar, Mrs. Shaffner's sister. On their way home next week they will spend a short while with Mr. and Mrs. Dudley at their Orlando home.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Scott, of Dana,
Ind., who arrived Thursday in Daytona, were in Daytona Beach this morning visiting friends whose acquaintance they made in past seasons
spent on the peninsula. Mr. and Mrs.
Scott are looking around for comfortable apartments where they may spend the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Mortimer arrived Thursday afternoon accompanied by their niece, Miss Marie Spaulding, and will stay for the winter in their cozy home on the corner of Palmetto street and Harvey avenue. Mrs. Mortimer, who has been ill during the summer, has improved
very much in the last two weeks as her friends will be pleased to hear.

Nature Generous to Swallow.
The swallow has a larger mouth in proportion to its size than any other bird.

Honor and Courage.
Whether you be men or women, you will never do anything in the world without courage. It is the greatest quality of the mind--next to honor.-- James L. Allen.

A Great Truth.
This seems to be a great truth, in any exile or chaos whatsoever, that sorrow was not given us for sorrow's sake, but always and infallibly as a lesson for us from which we are to learn somewhat; and which, the somewhat once learned, ceases to be sorrow.--Thomas Carlyle.

SEABREEZE PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Robert, of Ord-ville, Colo., left Thursday for Miami, after visiting Mrs. R. L. Evernden at her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Todd and son,
Jack Todd, arrived from Montreal,
Can., Wednesday to spend the winter
at the Princess Issena.

The Princess Issena has a new bus
to meet all trains during the season.
It is one of the most attractive hotel
automobiles on the peninsula.

G. R. Newell came in Thursday to stay during the Christmas week with his family at the beautiful Newell residence on Ocean boulevard and the river front.

D. F. Fuquay has a number of workmen engaged in the work of two small additions on the Hotel Princess Issena. The new additions are two sleeping porches, 16 feet square, which are being built on each side of the main building.

Mrs. W. P. Weston entertained her class in the Sunday school of the Daytona Beach Methodist church, at her home on Halifax avenue Wednesday afternoon. A pleasant afternoon for the young folks was enjoyed, music, recitations, games and readings
helping to make the time enjoyable.
Late in the afternoon refreshments
were served and each child before leaving was presented with a book as a Christmas gift.

DAYTONA BEACH METHODIST

"TOURIST'S" CLASS SERVICE

The regular meeting of the Tourist's class of the Daytona Beach Methodist church will be held Sunday morning at the church and Mrs. H.
S. Rightmire, of Daytona, will address the assembly on "The Gospel of the South Window."

Rev. John J. Treadwell, the resident pastor, will conduct the Bible study.
His subject will be "The Master's Joy."

Wise Kid.

A confirmed tippler remarked in the presence of his little son that at one period he didn't touch a drop for two years. "Pa," said the little fellow, "was that your first two years?"

The First Perfumes.

When you use perfume and call it
such, do you think how the name
came about? It means, in Latin,
"from smoke," and the name proves that the first perfumes were only aromatic woods or gums that scented
the air when burned.

Had the Wrong Outlook.

A public man who looms large to the men of his day may be judged by posterity to have been standing for outworn ideals, and so to have hindered human progress. Demosthenes
was regarded as a great patriot in opposing Philip of Macedon. But he was really the champion of the old idea of the independence of the Greek city-states, while Philip was developing the project of unifying Greece. For a century the city-states had been fighting
each other, constantly beset by jeal-ousies. Their lack of unity was a great obstacle to progress. Demosthenes was looking backward, not forward.

Civilization's Onward March.

"Progress is like the insidious change from youth to old age, except that progress does not mean decay.
The change that is almost imperceptible and yet inexorable is much the same, however. You will see a community apparently changeless as the years pass by; and yet, when the
years have gone and you look back,
there has been a change. It is not the same. It never will be the same. It can pass through further change, but it cannot go back. Men look back, sick sometimes with longing for the things that were and that can be no
more; they live the old days in memory--but try as they will they may not go back. With intelligent, persistent effort they may retard further change considerably, but that is the most they can hope to do. Civilization and time will continue the march
in spite of all that man may do."
From B. M. Bower's book, "The Flying U's Last Stand."

PLEASANT MEETING OF SANS SOUCI CLUB

The Sans Souci club met Thursday afternoon in the parlors of the Kentucky-Neptune hotel in Seabreeze.
Mrs. C. L. Watkins was hostess for the day.

During the business part of the time was taken up in the renewal of the discussion concerning the changing of the club's name, after which two well-written papers were read to the interest of the members.
Mrs. A. Ayres' reading was on the mother's pension bill, and was full of much information well worth while.
Mrs. R. C. Waterson's paper was on "Recent Medical Discoveries," and thoroughly outlined progress in medical work for the last few years.

After the program the ladies had a Christmas tree. Gift-taking was arranged so that each person was blindfolded and led to the table on which the gifts were and then taking the first present she touched.

Refreshments were served before the close of the meeting and consisted in ice cream and cake. The hotel lobby was very tastefully decorated with holly and evergreens and the meeting was on the whole one of the prettiest ever held by the organization in the opinion of many of its members.

BETHLEHEM PAGEANT AT CHURCH TONIGHT

Everything is in readiness for the Christmas pageant to be presented in the Daytona Beach Methodist church
tonight. The costumes were arranged Thursday night and a dress rehearsal
held in which the whole spectacle
went off very smoothly.

The pageant is the main feature of the evening, although Santa Claus
will be present to the delight and merriment of the little folks (many of whom will give recitations fitting for the time).

The "SILENT SMITH"

—Model 8 shows what should now be expected of a typewriter.

Ball Bearing; Long Wearing

The success of the L. C. Smith & Bros. Typewriters has been due to the fact that the wants of the user have dictated its construction. The user has decided in favor of certain improvements now incorporated in Model 8.
Among them are:

Silence of Operation—The most silent running efficient typewriter ever placed on the market. Absolute silence
has been very nearly attained.

Decimal Tabulator—A help in billing and tabulating.
There is no extra charge for this convenience.

Variable Line Spacer—Enables the operator to start on a given line and space from point of starting; also to write on ruled lines whose spacing varies from typewriter spacing. A great help in card work.

Faster Ribbon Feed—Insures new place of impact for each typeface.

Choice of Carriage Return—Upon special order the new left hand carriage return will be furnished in place of the right hand return.

All the important features of previous models have been retained
—ball bearing carriage, typebars and capital shift, back spacer,
key-controlled ribbon, removable platen, protected type, flexible
paper feed and automatic ribbon reverse.

Write for New Catalog of Model 8. It will explain why the L. C. Smith & Bros. Typewriter is a synonym for superior service.

"THE WONDERFUL ADVENTURE"-CRYSTAL

William Farnum, who appears in a dual role in "The Wonderful Adventure," a new William Fox feature from the virile pen of Captain Wilbur Lawton, is America's favorite screen artist and matinee idol of the day. Mr.
Farnum is the highest salaried actor
of the screen today, drawing $100-000 a year for his work. Mr. Farnum was the first of the great legitimate actors to forsake the stage, but he says today that he never was more contented nor happier in his work.
This is the attraction at the Crystal
theater tonight.

He was an immediate success when the first picture in which he appeared was released. Quickly one great feature after another followed and in each instance Mr. Farnum's drawing power was apparent. Great features in which this noted actor has caused a perfect sensation are: "The Nigger," "A Gilded Fool," "The Plun-
derer," and "The Bondman." Hall
Caine's most famous book and drama.

Mr. Farnum is a man of unusual personality. He is tractable and modest and has none of that self-conceit
which is found all too often with persons in all walks of life who have made successes.

His wide scope of character delineation is a marvel to all who watch his work. In one picture alone he will take several parts, each as far from the other as the two poles. For instance, in "Samson," he is first a dock hand, brutal and ignorant, and later a polished man of the world, a business colossus. In each phase of the character of Maurice Brachard, Mr. Farnum is equally impressive. In "A Gilded Fool" he appears in a character entirely new to him, that of Chauncey Short, a good-hearted
young fellow with an ambition to spend an inheritance of $5,000,000 as quickly as possible. Fate, and a girl,
alter Chauncey's character utterly, and Mr. Farnum emphasizes both sides of Chauncey with amazing fidelity to detail and life. In "The Nigger," his work as Philip Morrow gives a magnificent portrayal of a part that calls
for strength and dignity.

In "The Wonderful Adventure," however, Mr. Farnum can be said to be at his best in character portrayal.
In this magnificent feature picture,
he plays a dual part. He is in one character a rough and rugged man of the plains whose life has been cast in rough and thorny places, and in the other character he is a well-to-do business man, who stands high in the community, whose home life is ideal and happy.

In the character of the rough man
he becomes a dope fiend, and he lives
out and acts upon the screen the awful sufferings and tortures that make up the life of one cursed with the drug habit.

SMALL FIRE CALLED OUT DEPARTMENT LAST NIGHT

At 9:12 yesterday evening guests of the Gables hotel turned in an alarm
of fire due to the discovery that smoke was puffing from the front
windows of the double house next door.

Chief French and the department
arrived in double-quick time and coupled their hose-lines as a precaution,
but the blaze was handled with the chemical engine alone.

Downstairs in a front room occupied by Miss Nellie Gates, of Hamilton, Canada, somebody left a wood stove to its own devices. It was near the foot of the bed and took advantage of the fact. A live ember fell to the floor and set the carpet afire

which, in turn, ignited the mattress
and blankets.

The department arrived in time to confine the flames to the bed and floor. The damage amounted to about $25.00, which was covered by insurance with the Bingham & Thompson agency.

Mrs. Emma Redick owns the house which is situated at 21 Volusia avenue, directly between the hotels Gables and Howard. Had the fire gained headway there is a probability that both hostilities would have suffered severely.

ored, who died in Waycross on Wed-

ternoon to Kendrick for burial and place. The deceased was 32 years of

CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET
OFF. HELD BUDGETARY HOPES
FOR 1965—OFFICIAL TALKER
WASHINGTON

The Congressional Budget Office
has predicted that the 1965
fiscal year will be the first in which the government will be able to pay off its debt.
It is possible, however, that the government will be able to pay off its debt in 1966, if the government is able to reduce its deficit to $1.5 billion.

The office's report, which is the first of a series of reports
that will be issued over the next few months, is based on the assumption that the government will be able to reduce its deficit to $1.5 billion in 1965.
The office's report also states
that the government will be able to pay off its debt in 1966, if the government is able to reduce its deficit to $1.5 billion in 1965.

DAYTONA CHURCHES TO OBSERVE XMAS

Conforming to its usual custom, the Daily News will not issue an edition tomorrow. This great festive holiday will be observed by the Daily News employees, and they will take the opportunity to refrain from a day of arduous "grind" and enjoy the day with their families and friends.

DAYTONA CHURCHES TO OBSERVE XMAS

CONGREGATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL HELD EXERCISES LAST EVENING — OTHERS TONIGHT AND TOMORROW.

The Congregational church Sunday school held its Christmas exercises in the church proper last evening at 7:30. A goodly number of older people were present besides the children and all entered into the pleasure of the entertainment with a will.

A notable feature of the program was a pageant representing the Christmas spirit—something which our Sunday schools are adopting more and more each year.

There were recitations of a musical and literary nature by the pupils, poems and good things for the kiddies and many presents for the poor.

The pastor said before the entertainment, "I want this Christmas to be a giving Christmas rather than a receiving Christmas. I have extended a cordial invitation to the public to come and be happy with us." Taken all in all, the exercises demonstrated the excellent work of the Sunday school and the earnestness of all those connected with the church.

First Baptist Church.
The Sunday school entertainment of the First Baptist church will be given on Christmas night at 7:00 o'clock. The exercises contain two religious plays entitled, "The Voices of the Women" and "Gifts for the King," produced respectively by the Glee class and Miss Rosyland. A "real live Santa Claus" coming down a "real live chimney" promises much merriment for the youngsters.

First Christian Church.
A charming little story of a "white gift" Christmas is the announcement of the First Christian church. The entertainment will take place at 7:30 on Christmas eve.

Episcopal Church.
The Rev. Robert McKay will conduct holy communion at the Episcopal church at 7:30 Christmas morning, followed by a morning prayer and sermon at 10:30.

The following musical program will be rendered at St. Mary's Episcopal church Christmas day at 10:30 and will be repeated at the Sunday morning services:

Prelude—Cantique de Noel (Adams).

Hymn 56.

Venite—Chant 18.

Te Deum in B-flat (Moulder).

Jubilate—Chant 133.

Introit anthem—"And There Were Shepherds" (Parks).

Hymn 58.

Offertory—"If With All My Heart," from Elijah (Mendelssohn).

Communion service (Tours).

Hymn 60.

Postlude—Festive March (Clark).

On Tuesday, December 28, at 3 in the afternoon the Episcopal Sunday school announces an entertainment in the Guild hall.

Catholic Church.

The Rev. Father Robert Danworth will conduct mass in the Catholic church at 6, 7 and 10:30 o'clock on Christmas morning. The Sunday school will have a big tree and presents for all at 4:30 p. m.

Methodist Episcopal Church.

Mrs. Burdette Mills, who is in charge of the Sunday school exercises of the Methodist Episcopal church, has arranged an attractive musical program including solos, duets and songs by the entire Sunday school. Mrs. Mills will play the piano. The entertainment takes place at 7:00 o'clock Christmas night.

BIG RACES TO BE HELD AT ARCADE

A night of races will furnish the principal attraction at the Arcade on Christmas night. The event of the evening will be the race for the championship of Daytona. The winner of this race will represent this city in a race which has been arranged for the championship of the East Coast. Quite a little interest is being taken in this event and it will probably furnish some good sport. In order to give others a chance and to furnish some fun for all, the following series of races will be held: Half-mile, open to all; five-mile relay; potato, candle, barrel, egg—skating backward with an egg in a spoon—couple and glide races.

The Arcade will be open all day Christmas and their alleys, rink and pocket billiards will help you and your friends to spend the time pleasantly.

QUALITY SHOP'S BIG SALE GREAT SUCCESS

The January clearance sale, now, which has been in progress at the Quality shop for the past week has been a phenomenal success, far exceeding the expectations of the management and thoroughly demonstrates that the ladies of Daytona and the surrounding towns appreciate a sale of this character coming just at the right time as this one does. It also shows that the "Woman who cares" scans the advertisements in the Daily News and knows where and when she can shop to the best advantage. There are still some excellent opportunities in the bargains at the Quality shop if taken in time. The sale will close January 1.

YACHT RUSILLA TOUCHES HERE AND LEAVES AGAIN

The yacht "Rusilla" from New York arrived at the yacht club Thursday afternoon, having on board the owner Russel Howland and wife and their guest, Freddy J. Baird. The trip was pleasant all the way down with the exception of a few days of bad weather at the start. They left early this morning for Miami.

If you read it in the Daily News it is pretty apt to be just that way.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR ELECTS OFFICERS

ORIENTAL COMMANDERY, K. T., ELECTS AND INSTALLS OFFICERS—WILL HOLD CHRISTMAS OBSERVANCE TOMORROW.

MAGNOLIA HOTEL GUESTS

TO HAVE CHRISTMAS TREE

The guests of the Magnolia hotel expect to have a very merry time Saturday and as usual will have a Christmas tree. It is the custom to collect a fund to purchase toys and each member is presented with one most appropriate to him. They are then collected and given to deserving children. Much laughter is heard when the recipients open their gifts and some practical jokers have been known to present the guests with their own toilet articles, old shoes, etc., which have been appropriated during their absence and neatly done up in holiday fashion.

The Boo Boo club a well known secret order also meets at this time and new members are initiated, much to the merriment of those present.

To live in Daytona is to enjoy life.

SPECIAL PROGRAM AT ARCADE THEATRE

"A Royal Imposter" a five reel, hand colored, by the Eclectic Natural color process, picture will be the attraction at the Arcade theatre Christmas. The story is a strong drama of Royal life in a small principality.

Prince Ludwig of Gravana is very wild and often goes away on sprees that would reflect no credit on the good name of the reigning family. He has a servant Enrico who so strongly resembles him that when he leaves the palace he dresses the servant as himself so that his absence will not be noticed. The servant is in love with a pretty peasant girl. On one of their walks the servant makes a gash in his arm and with the blood writes on her scarf "I love you till death." On one of his rides the prince sees the girl and at once desires to have her for his paramour. His advances, however, are repulsed. Being not used to having any of his wishes frustrated, he gives orders to his grooms to kidnap the girl and bring her to his room in the palace. The deed is carried out and the girl is put in the Prince's room to wait his return. While she is there Enrico enters. She tells him of her plight and he helps her to escape through a secret passage. On the Prince's return Enrico upbraids him for his treatment of Valerie. A struggle takes place in which the Prince is killed. Just then news comes that the King is dead and that the people are clamoring for a sight of their Prince.

Other pictures to be shown include Father and Son, a drama of regeneration in three reels starring the film favorites, Ralph Lewis and Francella Billington; and Caught In Tights, a rollington Keystone comedy; and Ten Million Honey Makers. See the full program on the back page of the Daily News.

WHY DON'T THEY EXPLAIN CONDITIONS?

The Daily News has invited no controversy in reference to the proposed commission charter to be voted upon by the people of Daytona on the 4th of next month. It has tried to avoid a controversy. The editor of the Daily News has been "hopped" on by several people, some of whom had not the manhood to sign their names to the articles.

But after repeated maligning, the Daily News has its "dander up" and makes the charge that, in its opinion, most of the persons who have been hammering this publication in print and in public meetings are inconsistent or else dishonest in their statements. They have made statements to the public about the Daily News and municipal affairs, and expected the public to swallow what a school-boy would have better sense than to say.

If any one of the persons who have made charges against the administrative affairs of the city have been to the city hall to get their information they have hoodwinked the people by making false statements of conditions; if they have not personally investigated and have made the statements which they are credited with having made in public, they are dangerous people for any community.

Why don't they inform the people by telling them that during the past year the sum of $10,691.17 was paid for the construction of the seawall; why don't they tell them that this seawall which they charge the council with neglecting in its construction was approved by a local engineer, with the exception of the short piece in front of the Prince George hotel; why don't they tell them that since the installation of the waterworks system a total sum of $26,661.46, according to the water board's own figures, have been paid toward the maintenance of the plant and interest on the bonds; why don't they tell the people that it cost the city $4,609.30 to maintain the fire department from February 10, 1915, to December 14, 1915; why don't they inform the people that it cost the city a lot of money to light the streets the past year; why do they say the books of the city have not been audited in eight years when as a matter of fact every voucher drawn by order of the city council was audited and passed upon last year, as well as in the year 1913; why don't they tell the people that this man D. D. Rogers, who stated at the public meeting Tuesday evening that he did so much because of his love for the city, drew from the city coffers for engineering work from 1906 to 1913 the sum of $2,094.95; why don't they inform you, dear voter, that three mills of this year's taxes, amounting to $7,920.59, is required to maintain the public schools?

Why don't these kickers who say this freak charter will reduce the taxes pick out a single instance of high taxation—pick out some piece of property that is assessed too high? The Daily News has yet to learn of a piece of real estate that is assessed for half of what the owners ask for it. The taxes of Daytona are not as high in proportion to the asked value of the property as are the taxes of Daytona Beach. Statements in general mean nothing. Anyone who thinks he knows of a specific instance of high taxation should tell the people of that instance. There may possibly be a few unjust assessments, the Daily News will grant. It is probable, however, that most everyone who believed themselves to be unjustly taxed, have made complaint to the city council, and if that body found their claim to be well-founded a rebate has been allowed. Most of the statements that have been made in public meeting regarding municipal affairs have been founded on ignorance, and undoubtedly some people have swallowed the statements.

A commission form of government with a proper manager will undoubtedly prove more satisfactory than the present form. The Merchants bank is a flourishing institution for the reason that a competent manager, advised by competent directors, is at the head of it. Were the guiding hands incompetent, the bank would not be a successful institution. Just so with the affairs of a city. Elect three commissioners, who will act as the legislative body of the city. There is no reason why they should be paid any salary, except possibly a nominal one. The commissioners are in the same position as the directors of a bank. The commissioners would then hire a manager and pay him a salary that would be commensurate with his experience and ability. A local man who is not a successful business man could not be expected to successfully conduct the affairs of the city; if he is a successful business man he could not afford to accept an office paying $1,500 a year, and give up his business. It is possible, however, to hire an experienced city general manager at a total of the salary proposed to be paid the three commissioners under the proposed charter to be voted upon January 4. Why don't some of the people who are talking so strong for the charter to be presented to the people on January 4 tell the people that it is possible to have a better charter by giving the question more thought in preparation? The election called for February 9 provides for the election of five charter commissioners. The people elect these five men. It is then the duty of the five commissioners elected to prepare a charter. It would be the people's charter prepared by the people's commissioners and not by a self-appointed set of sore-heads. After being prepared the charter is then, under the Farris law, submitted to the people for ratification. What can be more consistent?

No, dear one, they are not honest enough to explain these matters to you. They want to pull the wool over your eyes and endeavor to make you believe that affairs in Daytona are now "rotten" and if you don't adopt this freak charter which the few self-appointed saviors of the city have doped out that the city is going to the "demnation" bow-wows. They are theoretically turning heaven and earth in their desperate efforts to win their point, regardless of what the ultimate results to the city may be.

Don't misunderstand the Daily News, dear voter. A commission form of government, if properly prepared by sane and safe people, is undoubtedly a better form of government than the aldermanic form. The Daily News advocated it years ago, before some of the present agitators had probably ever heard of Daytona. The Daily News is of the opinion that Daytona is a pretty good city. It has been pretty well governed in the past, compared with other cities of its size and kind. There has never, in the opinion of the Daily News, been a penny extracted from the city coffers in "graft." If any of the persons who have thus charged are good citizens they would go before a justice of the peace and have a warrant issued for the guilty culprit whom they charge with stealing the city's money. Such charges have been made in public meetings during the present agitation. They should be proven or the man who made the charges should be brought up with a sharp halt.

Every day is summer in Daytona.

A SAD CHRISTMAS FOR THE GERMANS

WAR CHANGES THE USUAL MERRY CHRISTMAS OF THE USUALLY HAPPY AND CONTENTED GERMAN PEOPLE.

BERLIN, Dec. 24.—There are many reasons why the Christmas season will not be as gay as even it was last year, because the death rate of the nation has largely increased during the past twelve months and living conditions in many respects are harder. The real German Christmas celebration occurs on Christmas, eve. About 4 o'clock the dinner is served an elaborate and hearty feast, consisting of a long series of traditional dishes, all eaten in a state of wild excitement. During this meal the Kriskind makes its appearance. This figure is a curious product of sentiment and imagination, a queer combination of the Holy Child, the Good Fairy and the American Santa Claus. After dinner comes a great celebration and then later in the evening there is another meal. This year, however, all of the good things that possibly can be spared have been sent to the men in the trenches.

One Thing He Had Observed.

Mrs. Toggerblossom—"Vain man! Did you never observe that designers take a woman's head to adorn many of your coins?" Mr. Toggerblossom—"No, but I have observed that designers take many of my coins to adorn a woman's head."—National Monthly.

Chaffed on His Mal de Mer.

Depew began thus at a dinner at which he and Choate both were speakers: "It's well to have a specialist talk on a topic. I'm glad Choate is to speak about the navy. He and I met at the wharf once when we were going to Europe on the same boat. I never saw him again till we reached Liverpool. When I asked him there how he felt he said he thought he would have enjoyed the trip if he'd only had some sea air."

Relation of Malaria to Agriculture.

An intensive study of the decrease of productiveness in an agricultural community due to malaria has been made by the bureau of entomology in Madison Parish, La. It was found that 12 families, cultivating 246 acres of land, lost an aggregate of 88 weeks during the crop-growing season from this cause, or more than seven weeks per family. The financial loss in this case was estimated at $24 per family. Where the boll-weevil prevails the losses would be much heavier, as failure to keep up the cultivation of the crop or to plant at the proper time gives the weevil a decided advantage. It is clear from these investigations that the present loss through malaria in the southern states amounts to many millions of dollars.—Scientific American.

SYDNEY, Australia, Dec. 24.—Les Darcy has postponed sailing for America in order to meet Eddie McGoorty next Sunday in celebration of "Boxing Day" which always comes on the day after Christmas. Darcy has been accused of demanding excessive terms from McGoorty, but the coming fight ought to settle Darcy's status. If he wins, it will be the second time that he has whipped McGoorty, and he will figure to have something like a walkover in his bouts when he arrives in the United States. On recent form, however, McGoorty seems to be a much better fighter than the Australian crack.

PROF. KUEHNEMANN DELIVERS TALK ON WAR

GUEST OF THE GER.-AMERICAN CLUB

ARGUMENT FROM GERMANY'S VIEWPOINT ABLE AND LOGI-CAL—WILL LEAVE HERE TO-MORROW FOR MIAMI.

With a voice clear and vigorous, Eugene Kuehnemann, professor of the imperial university of Breslau, exchange professor at Harvard university, spoke for nearly two hours before the members of the German-American club and a few invited guests last evening.

Without any evidence of hatred and in the most logical way, Professor Kuehnemann took up his subject and carried it through in detail. He was introduced by Charles F. Burgman in an interesting little talk. During the course of the doctor's address the audience was so attentive that a fire alarm which sounded in the middle of his address disturbed his speakers for a brief interval until they ascertained that the fire was of no material consequence.

A trained thinker and a philosopher of prominence and with an excellent command of English, Dr. Kuehnemann succeeded in evidencing that it takes something nearly superhuman to lift oneself above the conflict of ideas and theories for which the great struggle in Europe is being carried on at present and in the interest of which formidable waves may be noticed in the domestic life of this country.

In fact it was admirable how a man who must have been taken up by his own ideas as to his own fatherland to be able to give without apparently taking side all the phases on which he touched in such an impartial manner throughout.

Dr. Kuehnemann said the European war is the greatest in all human history. It has terrified and amazed the world and that it is not merely a great destructive force but is proving to be the greatest constructive force in the world. It has brought out the highest moral and religious energies of the German people.

He said that before 1914 no one really knew what Germany really is. Not even the Germans themselves, but that now the whole world knows. He said that old crimes would be punished and old virtues rewarded.

He then proceeded to show that many first impressions deprecatory of Germany and the Germans had become rectified. A year ago many had the impression that Germany seemed a great disturber of the peace, whereas Germany has a clear conscience in this war, as Germany was in no way responsible but was forced into it against her will.

First a look was taken of the Russian state by the speaker, who spoke of Russia as unmodern; that she had conquered all of the northern half of Asia and was trying to get into China; the idea of Russia being able to build a great Slavic empire and to have

THY LIGHT IS COME.
(BY MENEFEE HUSTON.)

See! the day is breaking—day expected long!
Come, ye happy children, come with shout and song!
Cry your loud hosannas, make the welkin ring!
With your joyous voices Christmas carols sing!
'Tis the morning foretold in days long past,
And "the infant King" is coming at last!

Hark! the distant music o'er Judea's plains
Through the dim light swelling in seraphic strains!

'Tis the angel chorus, far up in the sky,
Shouting "Glory! glory! be to God on high!"
The wise men are here, their tribute to bring—
At the stable door—to "the infant King."

Since that happy morning years have passed away,
But it's wondrous memories live with us today,
And the world still worships at Thy manger throne,
And the glory giveth unto Thee alone.

O! Baby King, of the sad crown of thorn,
Of the sceptre reed, and the robe of scorn!

Let us then be singing our glad hymns of praise
To the loving Jesus who in ancient days—
Putting off His glory—saved us from our sin—
Born a little baby in the stable of an inn!

Our praises ever to Him shall be giv'n
Who said "of such is the Kingdom of Heaven."

CANAL COMPANY MUST CLEAN OUT WATERWAY

STATE MAY START LEGAL PROCEEDINGS

COMPLAINTS REPEATEDLY MADE THAT EAST COAST CANAL NOT PROPERLY MAINTAINED—GOV-ERNOR WRITES LETTER.

Unless the East Coast Canal company gets busy and cleans up the waterway down the East Coast of Florida the state will institute legal proceedings for the purpose of requiring a proper maintenance of the canal. Governor Park Trammell has so informed George W. Gibbs, of St. Augustine, general manager of the canal company, the letter from the governor to the general manager being dispatched a few days ago.

The action taken by the governor is the first move in a long time to improve conditions along the East Coast canal. Yachtsmen have been complaining of the conditions existing at the present time, Capt. Dick Carney reporting a few days ago that he was held up near Prosperity Farms by getting stuck in the sand. Although the canal is practically impassable at certain points, the canal company still collects toll at three different stations along the line.

In the agitation aroused a week or two ago to have the United States government purchase the East Coast canal route in preference to routing the inland waterway down the St. Johns river to Sanford and across to Titusville, the conditions of the East Coast canal were told of, but it was maintained that the waterway was in good condition. Further information brought out that in many places the canal was filled up by sand bars and that the canal company was absolutely neglecting to keep the waterway in passable shape. The entire history of the canal was aired at several meetings held in Miami, the people there favoring the St. Johns river route for the canal, says the Miami Metropolis.

In a letter to Frank Baker, of Miami Governor Trammell states that "the Board of Trustees of the Internal Improvement fund has no further authority or control over the East Coast canal. We did write them a letter some few weeks ago in which we requested that they should maintain the canal at its proper width and depth. If they decline to do so it is my idea that, if it should become necessary, mandamus proceedings should be instituted against the company to force it to do its duty by the canal."

Although the I. I. Board has no authority over the canal company the state can take the matter up and force the company to comply with the original contract. Governor Trammell's letter to Mr. Gibbs is taken as indicating the ideas of the state on the canal matter. The letter says that the canal should be cleaned "immediately." The governor's letter to Mr. Gibbs is as follows:

"It has been brought to the attention of the trustees of the Internal Improvement Fund that your company is failing to maintain the Florida

PRESIDENT'S LICENSE TO WED SIGNED WITH A GOLD PEN.

Gives Mr. Wilson's Age as Fifty-nine,
His Bride Forty-three.

President Wilson's marriage license was issued by the clerk of the supreme court of the District of Columbia. I. H. Hoover, chief usher of the White House, went to the United States courthouse, which old Washingtonians still call the city hall, and obtained the document from W. A. Kroll, assistant marriage license clerk. Mr. Hoover paid the regular fee of $1.

The license gives the age of President Wilson as fifty-nine and that of Mrs. Galt as forty-three years. Both are recorded as having been married before. The license follows:

APPLICATION FOR LICENSE.

No. 72,225.

I, Irwin H. Hoover, applicant for the issuance of a marriage license to the persons named herein, do solemnly swear that the answers to the following interrogations are true to the best of my knowledge and belief, so help me God.

By W. A. KROLL, Assistant Clerk.

"I hope you will convey to the president and Mrs. Galt my sincere wishes for a happy and prosperous future," said Mr. Kroll after he had filled in the blank spaces in the license and received the dollar from Mr. Hoover. Mr. Kroll had provided a gold pen and penholder for the occasion, and after using this for writing in the data furnished by Mr. Hoover he put it aside as a souvenir.

SAY KITCHENER WILL WED.

London Hears Countess of Minto Will Be War Secretary's Bride.

Reports are current in London that announcement will shortly be made of the engagement of Lord Kitchener, secretary of state for war, and the Countess of Minto.

This is not the first time that reports have gained currency that Lord Kitchener, who is a bachelor, was to be married. He is now sixty-four years old.

The late Earl of Minto died on Feb. 28, 1914. He was viceroy of India and before that was governor general of Canada for six years.

The countess is a daughter of the late General Charles Grey and a first cousin of the present Earl Grey. She was married to the Earl of Minto in 1883 and has two sons and three daughters.

FRENCH FORTS OF SUGAR.

Sand Lacking, Government Used 2,500 Tons For Fortifications.

The sugar shortage in France was officially explained to be due to a German surprise attack in the Solissons sector and the use of sugar to defend France from her enemies.

Georges Clemenceau, making public the unusual reason for a dearth of sugar, said that when a surprise attack developed north of Solissons, the military authorities, lacking sand sacks to form trench parapets, seized 2,500 tons of sugar and used the bags of sugar.

BRYAN TREATIES

PROVING NOT GOOD

THEY GIVE NATIONS WHICH ACCEPTED THEM A YEAR TO INVESTIGATE COMPLAINTS OF UNITED STATES.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24.—With the Senate again in session, there is much speculation in diplomatic circles as to the fate of several of the so-called Bryan peace treaties, which, negotiated by the former Secretary of State, still await ratification by the upper house of Congress.

These peace documents have taken on a new interest in view of the almost endless complications with foreign governments which the United States faces as a result of the war abroad. These treaties, which were Mr. Bryan's hobbies, throughout his administration of the affairs of the State Department, by a stroke of the pen will bind the United States and the various signatory powers to an agreement whereby "all disputes, of every nature, shall, when diplomatic methods of adjustment have failed, be referred for investigation and report to a permanent international commission; and they agree not to declare war or begin hostilities during such investigation and before the report is submitted." A year is allowed as the minimum period of investigation.

Early in his tenure as Secretary of State, Mr. Bryan submitted his "peace plan" to all of the governments, great and small, diplomatically represented in Washington. Peace pacts embodying the Bryan idea are now in force with Great Britain, France, Russia, and Italy. On the other hand the Teutonic powers, Germany and Austria-Hungary, and their allies, Turkey and Bulgaria, never did more than acknowledge the receipt of the peace proposal. No authorization ever came from the foreign office of any of these powers to enter into further negotiations with Mr. Bryan. It soon became evident that the proposal made no appeal whatever to any of the powers now engaged in the death struggle against Great Britain, France, Russia and Italy. State Department officials are frank in expressing the opinion that the existence of a Bryan treaty between the United States and Germany would have been a distinct handicap to this government in its negotiations with Berlin which followed the sinking of the Lusitania and the Arabic, with the loss of more than a hundred American lives. In the opinion of those observers, a pact binding the United States not to begin hostilities within a year's time, as the peace conventions provide, would have prohibited President Wilson from employing the strong language which characterized the diplomatic exchanges with Berlin, in which the President said, among other things, that the United States would "omit no word or act in its zeal to safeguard Americans."

These officials point out further that the language of the Chief Executive in dealing with the Austrian government following the Ancona disaster would likewise be curbed by the existence of a peace pact such as was proposed by the former premier. Happily for the United States, Austria-Hungary did not accept Mr. Bryan's peace invitation.

Now the United States faces a grave diplomatic dispute with Great Britain over the latter government's interference with American commerce with neutral nations. But if Great Britain elects, under the Bryan treaty in force between the London government and Washington, it will be possible for the British to invoke the "investigation clause" of the peace pact. This would serve to postpone all action on the dispute during the year provided for an inquiry and report by an international commission. This is bound to meet with the approval of Downing street as meanwhile the British admiralty could continue its work of overhauling innocent American ships. And nothing could be more advantageous to the British than to have another year in which to go their way enforcing Orders in Council which have the effect of driving American shipping from the high seas.

It is widely reported in Senatorial circles that the Upper Chamber not only will not approve any more of the Bryan peace conventions but that those already in force with the allied powers and other nations will be permitted to die natural deaths when their five year period has expired.

Optimistic Thought.
It is better to do good than be conspicuous.

Uncle Eben.
"De man dat gives advice," said Uncle Eben, "is generally tryin' to show off how much he knows instead of bein' any real help."

COAST IS OPEN TO FOE, SAYS DEWEY

Navy Equal to Strongest Enemy Needed, Admiral Asserts.

MANY CITIES EASY TO TAKE

"With Such a Navy Enemy Would Not Attempt Invasion as Long as It Remained in Existence"—Continuing, He Says Long Island Is a Vantage Point For Any Invader.

Only an adequate navy can prevent a hostile force from landing at will upon the Atlantic coast, according to Admiral George Dewey, president of the general board of the navy.

In a letter to Representative A. P. Gardner of Massachusetts Admiral Dewey says:

"Hon. A. P. Gardner, House of Representatives, Washington:

"Dear Mr. Gardner—I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of Dec. 9, asking me to write you, setting forth my views on the question of the possibility of large hostile forces landing on our coast and inviting my attention to an article by Eric Fisher Wood.

"The part of the Atlantic coast mentioned in Mr. Wood's article extends from Eastport, Me., to Cape Henry, Va., and in this area we have permanent defenses on the Penobscot and Kennebec rivers; at Portland, Portsmouth, Boston and New Bedford harbors; at Narragansett Bay; at the eastern entrance to Long Island sound; at the entrance to New York harbor; on the Delaware river; at Baltimore; on the upper Potomac river and at Hampton Roads.

"Of the defenses only those at Portland, Narragansett Bay, entrance to Long Island sound and the entrance to New York protect the coast; the others are solely harbor defenses.

Easy For Troops to Land.

"It is true that a large hostile force can land on the open coast wherever the transports can get within a reasonable distance of the shore, especially so where their landing is covered by the gunfire of the naval escort, even though the landing be opposed by troops.

"The most recent example of this is the landing of the allied troops on the Gallipoli peninsula. We have similar examples in our own history, as the landing of Scott's army near Vera Cruz, the landings near Fort Fisher and the landing of Shafter's army in Cuba.

"From Eastport, Me., to Cape Henry, Va., there are but very few places where large ships cannot approach with safety to within two miles of the coast, and the extent of this shoreline that is too precipitous or too ragged to make a landing practicable is small. The only force that can prevent such a landing is a navy of our own strong enough to prevent such an expedition from reaching our coast.

"In saying that a hostile expedition can land upon our coast at will outside the range of our coast defense guns, I mean that it is physically possible and with no very great difficulty. I do not mean that such a force could accomplish its object by landing anywhere on our coast.

Many Good Landing Places.

"No commander would desire to have his force isolated on the peninsula of Maine nor on the sand dunes of New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland or Virginia, with inland waters between it and the mainland. They will prefer to land where there are railroads and good roads leading to their objective, which would probably be one of our large cities. Such places are numerous along the coast of Massachusetts, both shores of Massachusetts bay, the eastern end and south shore of Long Island and in the Delaware and Chesapeake bays.

"A landing place sheltered from the force of the sea would greatly facilitate the disembarkation of a hostile force, but is not a vital necessity. Such sheltered places are too numerous to name, but among them are Frenchman's bay, Penobscot bay, Blue Hill bay, Sheepscott river, Casco bay in Maine, Rockport, Gloucester, Salem, Plymouth, Provincetown, Vineyard sound and Buzzards bay in Massachusetts, Fort Pond bay and then, to the southward, Delaware and Chesapeake bays.

Strong Navy the Need.

"Only the navy can prevent landings at those places, and that navy must be strong enough to defeat the enemy. Should we have such a navy the enemy would not attempt an invasion as long as it remained in existence.

"Our main defense and protection from invasion must always rest with the navy, which must ever remain our first and best line of defense. This defense, unless adequate, is impotent, and, as before stated, adequacy is not reached until the navy is strong enough to meet on equal terms the navy of the strongest probable adversary. Sincerely yours, GEORGE DEWEY."

Dance and Drink Divorced.

Dancing and drinking are not to be combined in public places in Boston, according to an order issued by the licensing board. The order stated that any hotel or restaurant serving liquor in rooms where dancing was conducted would be deprived of its license.

REUNION BY A PREACHER.

2,400 Persons Whom He Has Wedded Asked to Attend Special Service.

"I have married loving couples at high noon, at midnight, in hacks as they eloped, under Christmas trees, and I married one couple in a balloon. Now I want to inform myself of the happiness I have helped to bring about."

So said the Rev. F. L. Streeter of Kansas City, Kan. He has made 2,400 hearts beat as 1,200 since he became a clergyman in 1880. He will hold a special service for those he has wed in the Armordale Baptist church, Kansas City, and will preach on "Courtship and Marriage," a subject which never grows old, he says.

"I expect that one-third of the people I have married will attend the service, for they live around here," added the venerable clergyman. "I have the satisfaction of knowing that nine-tenths of the marriages I have performed have turned out happily. A few wives and husbands have quarreled, but I have used my best offices to reconcile them."

ARMISTICE PLANNED BY POPE

Would Give the Men in the Trenches a Little Relaxation.

Hopes that Pope Benedict XV. will be successful in his efforts to win the warring powers over to his plan for a Christmas armistice are increasing daily at the Vatican.

It became known that the papal secretary of state is in constant touch with the nuncios in France, Spain, Austria and Bavaria. The pope is working to remove the obstacles that blocked his plan in 1914.

Coincidence in Deaths.

It was an odd coincidence, but a striking one, that the greatest genius of England and the most masterful man in Spain passed from earth on the same day. Shakespeare and Cervantes both died April 23, 1616, the former being only fifty-two years old, and the latter sixty-nine.

A Fool He Was!

A young officer rather new to his work was drilling a squad of recruits and gave the word of command, "Lift the right leg." One of the soldiers by mistake raised his left leg, so that it joined closely to the right of his neighbor. "Good gracious," exclaimed the astonished officer, "that fool has lifted both legs!"

REMARKS TALK ON WAR

Constantinople as its capital. "The way to Constantinople was to be via Berlin and Vienna," said Dr. Kuehnemann, "and the vital interests of Russia made this war inevitable."

As to France the so-called regaining of the provinces of Alsace and Lorraine, "old German provinces stolen in time of peace by Louis XIV," was touched upon. Carliate was quoted as saying that Germany in the early seventies was justified in retaking these provinces. But, pointed out the speaker, it is something else with France. France cannot forget that she was once a first-class nation in Europe and not so long ago and now she feels she has lost this military glory to Germany.

Looking upon England, the speaker said, if there could be a world empire England could be called such, stretching over five continents. In England the political thinking is that she must remain absolute master of the world and its commerce. In the sixteenth century she ruined the fleet of Spain; in the seventeenth century that of Holland; in the next century that of France and in the nineteenth century that of Denmark. During the civil war she swept the American merchant marine off the seas and "in 1882 she repulsed the trick, bombarded Alexandria and took Egypt."

"Was there a fleet that became a goal? Yes; that of Germany and now England demands that the German fleet and its industry must be destroyed."

The term "balance of power" was discussed and the speaker said it was only a vehicle to keep nations warring with each other, with England out of it, while she went on and continued to build the English empire.

"The vital interests of England pointed to this war."

"No one who has studied the documents is in doubt as to who is responsible for the war. France and Russia would not have dared to have attacked Germany without the assistance of England."

"The classical document" was discussed, according to which, so the speaker said, England's promise to help France make the Russian war justly strong.

"I defy anyone," said Dr. Kuehnemann, "to show me any instance to make Germany desire war."

Then he showed how German commerce had grown five times in value in importance in 1914 as compared with 1871.

"In 1870 the proportion was 1 to 1.2 between Germany's and England's commerce, while in 1914 it was 5 to 5.12. In other words, Germany was on the heels of England's commerce. Everyone knows what that meant—a war against Germany for its extermination."

"Germany has been the great upholder of peace. Russia, France and England have had wars over wars during the past forty-three years, while during that time Germany has enjoyed uninterrupted peace. William II is the greatest peace monarch in the world."

"Germany was forced into this war at the last minute. Never was there a great empire that was as unprepared as Germany was." And the speaker then gave the proof of this statement.

He wanted to know why France had put twenty billion francs into the Russian war chest and why did Russia, in May, 1914, mobilize Siberian regiments in West Russia and why did England mobilize its fleet in July, 1914?

He said that Germany must be gotten out of the way of the criminal ambitions of her enemies and that was the way of the war.

The atrocities of the English in the east and that it was England's plan to supply the arms to Germany, but that the industrial and commercial conditions of Germany had frustrated this plan.

As most infamous, he declared the gross influence that had been exerted by England and that by this means and others England had shown no respect for American intelligence.

All things meant to annihilate Germany, he said, have only made her stronger.

Then he showed, by contrast, the picture of what it would mean to the world if Germany is crushed and again if Germany is victorious.

"The Germans are the freest people in the world in the freedom of conscience and the spirit of the freedom of life. The German fight is the fight for freedom and independence like yours was with England at the time of the revolution. A German victory is to the true interests of America."

Dr. Kuehnemann is a guest of the German-American society at Schmidt's hotel. He will remain in Daytona until tomorrow afternoon, when he expects to leave for Miami. Today the doctor is being shown the attractions of Daytona and vicinity by Capt. C. A. Young and others.

At the close of the address last night an appetizing lunch was served in the dining room of the German-American club.

U. S. COAST GUNS TO BE MOUNTED ON MOBILE PLATFORMS

16-inch Cannon Will Sink Dreadnaught Fleet at the Horizon.

Can Be Hurried From Point to Point in Case of Attack
by Foreign foe.

PLAN to revolutionize the coast defense fortifications of the United States is now being considered by government experts in a series of conferences. The discussion includes a plan to abolish concrete emplacements for the huge defense guns. It is proposed to mount these guns on mobile platforms.

Only guns of the largest caliber—16-inch—of the highest velocity, are being considered.

The use of caterpillar wheels for moving these great guns within limited areas is but a minor part of the general plan.

The experts are now working out details by which these guns may be moved from point to point along the entire coast. It is provided that they be assembled in batteries of six at the most likely point of attack at the time of alarm. Under the plans suggested the guns can be moved from their fortifications to points where needed with amazing speed.

The discussion has proceeded to the velocity, and the area of damage increases in ratio.

Ordnance experts have argued that the most effective firing of the new "thirty-fives" is at that range which will keep the enemy navy where his observation of his own fire is impossible. The maximum range will not be considered as material in such firing. The limit of the horizon, governed by the conditions of each occasion, will determine.

For purposes of perforation of armor of the enemy the range will be much increased over the firing for "racking" explosive effect. The twelve inch gun will perforate armor plate at 9,000 yards, the modern fourteen inch gun at 15,000 yards and the sixteen inch gun at 18,000 yards.

To Hold Off Dreadnaughts.

The council has produced advocates of both methods of defensive firing. The new "35's" are to be equipped for both armor piercing and contact shells. If conditions do not warrant the con-

The United States experts were not even able to get an accurate line upon the North sea battle between the British Lion and Tiger and German cruisers in which the Bluecher was sunk.

The Lion and Tiger used 15.5 inch guns. That the United States knows. The British reports, if true, show that hits were registered when the ships were fighting 17,000 yards apart, or below the horizon.

United States authorities do not believe hits were registered at that distance. They learned "somewhere in France" that wireless communication between the seaplanes and the British battleships in that engagement proved impracticable. The seaplanes established a perfunctory communication by use of smoke bombs and other signals only.

The United States army experts marveled at the quick destruction of the fortifications at Namur and Liège. They knew that the Germans were taking credit from the Austrians, for it was the Austrian Skoda howitzers that did the work.

But the marveling of our experts turned to astonishment when they found that these same howitzers failed to accomplish in six weeks on the Russian front what had been done in two days in Belgium. Marshal von Hindenburg reported one battery as "destroyed" seventeen times.

By expensive and diligent inquiry the United States army officers finally found the answer in a sand pile.

Sand Proves a Defense.

SIXTEEN INCH COAST DEFENSE GUN (BELOW) AND TYPE OF STEEL PLATFORM.

stage of drafting plans for sectional railways to be laid down within a few hours to transport these monsters across country, from one trunk railway to another.

The plan calls for co-operation by all of the principal railroads along the Atlantic seaboard. These corporations are to be asked for data at the earliest moment to show what reconstruction and strengthening of bridges are necessary to make safe and sure the safe and rapid movement of these great canons.

The twelve and fourteen inch batteries which now defend the coast harbors will not be disturbed. They are relied upon in this discussion as the support for the huge traveling batteries.

Power of Big Guns.

The sixteen inch gun now at Sandy Hook proving grounds, the only one owned by the United States, is fifteen years old. It is obsolete and has no further consideration in this story.

The sixteen inch guns which it is proposed to mount as movable batteries are to be new and modern guns. They are not "sixteen inch" guns to the army. Artillery officers call them "thirty-fives."

They propel a charge which, if squarely placed, will sink the largest dreadnaught at the edge of the horizon. The shell will strike the dreadnaught while traveling at nearly 3,000 feet per second. The charge, weighing 2,500 pounds, is guaranteed by the experts to be a much higher explosive than gun cotton.

The fourteen inch guns along our coast fire a 1,600 pound projectile at the rate of 2,250 feet per second. They have a maximum range of 18,000 yards—ten miles—and, theoretically, will pierce 11.2 armor plate at 15,000 yards.

The maximum range of the new "thirty-fives" could only be reached by firing the gun at an angle of forty-five degrees. In actual service the gun is usually elevated over twenty degrees. The lower the elevation the greater the continuation of one defense the other may be alternated or entirely substituted.

The discussion now in progress has developed the fact that man has not built and cannot build a rigid land fortification that will withstand rapid fire broadsides of an enemy fleet using ten six-inch guns at a broadside at a range of 6,000 to 7,000 yards.

Once the enemy gets "in underneath" the big caliber guns the fortification is doomed.

This developed the idea for the movable "35's." It is proved by calculations that an enemy squadron of super-dreadnaughts armed with 15.5 guns of the Queen Elizabeth class could be held at bay by batteries of "35's."

The ordnance experts show to a certainty that the enemy must sacrifice at least one superdreadnaught before it can arrive within effective range of a fortification protected by "35's." The moment that an enemy ship shows on the horizon it can be "plotted" as a target by the "35's." And the sole effectiveness of the reply by the enemy must be based upon locating and disabling the concealed monster.

It has been revealed that the United States government has little official data of the results achieved by the European armies now in conflict. United States observers came home almost empty handed. A few were allowed to mingle with the German and Austrian troops for a few months, but they were kept away from all that was worth while.

Information Withheld.

Only on the western front were they received with even simulated welcome by the allies. They met a lot of officers. But they did not learn anything. Information which they considered pertinent was withheld.

For instance, the United States army has not been able to ascertain many facts about the results of the fire between the allied navy and the Turkish forts at the Dardanelles. The accomplishments of the 15.5 inch guns on the Queen Elizabeth in her attempt to al-

would not withstand high explosives fired from beyond their range.

The Russians, profiting by the lesson, built parapets of sand bags high in front of their batteries. Then hundreds of men shoveled loose sand squarely in front of the parapet.

The United States learned that the battery which von Hindenburg sixteen times "destroyed" was actually buried in sand that number of times. But it was always dug out and moved to another place, where a similar sand pile had been prepared.

The 42 centimeter shells would not explode in a sand pile. Many sand piles are now sheltering our coast defenses.

The United States has learned from the European war that the turret is a protection needed only against indirect fire. It is now being utilized in an entirely new manner by our coast defenders. But the secret is buried and will not come out unless we are engaged by an enemy. Whether it has reached its new perfection in our continental or insular defenses is a closely guarded secret.

Where the enemy's artillery is successfully concealed, the United States arbiters have determined that turret protection is absolutely required. It may be decided, as the result of the conferences now proceeding, to protect several of our largest batteries in this manner.

The insular coast defenses of the United States are declared to be in very good condition. Equipped with the most modern ideas, the Panama canal may be considered adequately protected. The work in the Philippines and at Honolulu is progressing satisfactorily to the ordnance experts.

The construction of the proposed movable "35's" is extremely costly. The details are being worked out in shape that can be presented to the American public. The carriage costs half as much as the gun itself. But the wide radius of operation thus provided is regarded as amply justifying the expense.

PRESIDENT POINTS WAY TO CHURCHES

Duty to Community as Wilson
Sees It

MANY FARMERS HEAR SPEECH

"I Am an American Because America's Object Is to Show Men the Path of Liberty"—"I Believe in Making the School the Social Center, Place For Whole Community."

After a speech in which he reviewed the prosperity of the United States and told of our duties to the European nations President Wilson delivered a second talk during his brief visit to Columbus, O. In this second talk he evaded the great war and had a heart to heart talk to a large number of farmers and others. He emphasized the need of making country churches and schools more useful, saying in part:

"There was a time when America was characteristically rural, when practically all her strength was drawn from quiet countryside.

"But our rural districts are not now just what they used to be and have partaken in recent years of something of the fluidity that has characterized our general life, so that we have again and again been called upon from one point of view or another to study the revitalization of the countryside.

"There was a time, no longer ago than the youth of my own father, for example, when pastors found some of the most vital work in the country churches. I remember my dear father used to ride from church to church in a thickly populated country region and minister to several churches with a sense of ministering to the most vital interests of the part of the country in which he lived.

Advancement by Spiritual Means.

"After all, the most vitalizing thing in the world is Christianity. The world has advanced—advanced in what we regard as real civilization, not by material, but by spiritual means—and one nation is distinguished from another nation by its ideals, not by its possessions.

"When I think of the rural church I wonder how far the rural church is vitalizing the lives of the communities in which it exists. We have had a great deal to say recently, and it has been very profitably said, about the school as a social center.

"One of the things that the department of agriculture at Washington is trying to do is to show the farmers of the country the easiest and best methods of co-operation with regard to marketing their crops, learning how to handle their crops in a co-operative fashion, so that they can get the best service from the railroads; learning how to find the prevailing market prices in the accessible market, so as to know where it will be best and most profitable to send their farm products and drawing them together into co-operative association with these objects in view.

"The church ought to lend its hand to that. The pastor ought to say, 'If you want somebody to look after this for you I will give part of my time, and I will find other men in my congregation who will help you in the work and help you without charging you anything for it.'

"Some people have been opposed to it because there are some things that they do not want talked about. Some boards of education have been opposed to it because they realized that it might not be well for the board of education to be talked about. Talk is a very dangerous thing. Community comparison of views is a very dangerous thing to the men who are doing the wrong thing. But I for my part believe in making the school the social center, the place that the community can use for any kind of co-ordinating that it wants to do in its life.

Proud of Americanism.

"We are in the world to do something more than look after ourselves. The reason that I am proud to be an American is because America was given birth to by such conceptions as these; that its object in the world, its only reason for existence as a government, was to show men the paths of liberty and of mutual serviceability, to lift the common man out of the paths, out of the slough of discouragement and even despair, set his feet upon firm ground. Tell him, 'Here is the highroad upon which you are as much entitled to walk as we are, and we will see that there is a free field and no favor, and that as your moral qualities are and your physical powers, so will your success be.'

"We will not let any man make you afraid, and we will not let any man do you an injustice.

"Those are the ideals of America. 'America is great in the world, not as she is a successful government merely, but as she is the successful embodiment of a great deal of unselfish citizenship.

"That is what makes the world feel America draw it like a loadstone. That is the reason that the ships that cross the sea have so many hopeful eyes lifted from their humbler quarters toward the shores of the new world."

2,363,872 BOOKS IN LIBRARY.

European War Has Slightly Affected Growth of Capital Institution.

The Library of Congress at the close of the fiscal year on June 30 last had 2,363,872 books on its shelves, according to the annual report of Herbert Putnam, the librarian. The library also owns 143,553 maps and charts, 727,808 volumes and pieces of music and 385,737 prints, besides many valuable pieces of correspondence and many rare prints and documents.

The European war, the report says, has served to prevent the growth of the library to some extent, but the addition of books nevertheless was almost as great as in former years.

WED TO DEAD SOLDIER.

Government Will Recognize Ceremony and Grant Pension to Widow.

The custom of marriage by proxy, which has come into vogue during the war, has placed a young Parisian woman in a curious situation. She was married by proxy on Nov. 17 to Sergeant Joseph Conduche. On Dec. 1 she was informed officially that Sergeant Conduche had been killed at Sonchez on Sept. 28, several weeks before the marriage.

Although the marriage is invalid in law, the authorities, taking account of Sergeant Conduche's intentions, will give a widow's pension to the bereaved woman.

Hope For Hairless.

Dr. Robert B. Clark of Monroe, Wis., insanity expert, says hairless domes indicate sanity. He said: "I have examined several hundred patients as to their sanity. I have had the opportunity of studying many hundreds of others, and in all my experience I have yet, with a single exception, to see an insane man who was baldheaded."

Difference in Methods.

Some women generate one of their sweetest smiles when they want a favor of their husband, and some turn on the briny flow.

Only a "Ring-Off."

"Auntie, did you ever get a proposal?" "Once, dear. A gentleman asked me to marry him over the telephone, but he had the wrong number." —Louisville Courier-Journal.

Proved by Experiment.

One of the young ensigns who was acting as teacher on the battleship Texas asked the question: "What are the two principal parts of a sentence?" expecting to get the answer, "Subject and predicate." An old salt scratched his head in perplexity, and at last replied, "Solitary confinement and bread and water." —The Sailor's Magazine.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

The SEASON'S GREETINGS are extended to citizens and tourists who have so kindly made this store their Christmas shopping headquarters during the past few weeks. It has been a source of great pleasure to watch Santa Claus make his selections from a stock which we chose for his endorsement.

W. H. PECK.

All holidays should be the source of relaxation and personal enjoyment. Christmas, above all, brings us the noblest thoughts, and we dwell on the real meaning of the day. A full realization of what Christmas means makes us better citizens—makes us less impatient with the faults of others. It's a glorious day—its observance makes us more charitable. We extend to all our VERY BEST WISHES FOR A CHEERFUL CHRISTMAS AND A NEW YEAR FULL OF HAPPINESS AND PROSPERITY.

THE REXALL STORE.

On the eve of the festival that is so universally recognized, we extend greetings of the season. Those who have patronized us we thank; those who have called to look over our stock and not purchased, we likewise thank for honoring our store with their presence. Our sincerest wishes for a merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to everybody.

L. H. ROWE &amp; CO.

Our rigorous, vigorous wish to everybody is that a merry Yuletide may be hammering and clanging at your door and that everyone may have the happiest, smartest, jolliest and holiest Christmas they ever had.

GRUBER-MORRIS HARDWARE CO.

We have just closed our books covering the greatest amount of fine insurance business ever written in any December, and we extend our sincerest wishes for a merry Christmas and a happy New Year.

CONRAD &amp; OATES.

Christmas time has come again. A time of good-fellowship. A time to rejoice. A time to rejoice for the great benefits which we enjoy in health, peace and prosperity. A time we wish all our customers and all our fellow people the happiest time of their lives.

CLARK'S DRUG STORE.

Your patronage has been sincerely appreciated by your tailor. The season's greetings are heartily extended to my patrons and friends.

HALIFAX FURNITURE CO.

It is our business to help people enjoy themselves. We are glad so many have learned where to have a pleasant time and we will be glad to have you bring your friends to see us during the holidays. We will help you to show them a good time. With best wishes for a joyful Christmas time. Earnest Kreitzberg, proprietor of

MARIAN E. CRANE.

The holiday season is here, so let us catch the happy spirit of the time and be merry with our friends. If you have a grocer, forget it for a while or cure it entirely by giving "the glad hand" and "a merry Christmas to you" to folks that you meet. The same to you.

There is no other time just like Christmas. We rejoice with you and sincerely hope that you and your friends will be happy together. We are glad to know that our flowers are helping to make the time enjoyable for so many people. With the season's best wishes.

SHULZE &amp; OBERMAIER.

The Daytona Steam Laundry announces a Christmas present to its patrons of a $25.00 Prosperity collar shaper which they hope will so finish "turn-down" collars that a four-in-hand tie can be easily tied therein.

With many thanks to the general public for the liberal holiday patronage, we wish that your Christmas may be bright and your New Year prosperous. We will continue to receive exclusive models and exquisite designs and are always pleased to show these beautiful goods to all who appreciate quality and smartness.

DAYTONA QUICK LUNCH AND RESTAURANT.

We know just how a man feels when his wife gives him a box of "cigars." He has to smoke a few of them or hurt her feelings and spoil her Christmas. So that no risks will be taken we have put up some mighty fine smokes in Christmas boxes and you can feel entirely sure that one of the boxes will make some man happy. Wishing you all a merry Christmas.

At this season of the year even the ordinary mortal has some noble thoughts and wants to perform some deed of kindness. A spark of divinity disturbs our clod. This is a time in which we should all try to brighten the pathway of someone and add our quota to the happiness of the world. Let us forget for a season some of the things which enrage and fret us and be animated by the ennobling thought of the Christmas time. THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK extends to you all its most cordial wishes for your happiness and your prosperity in the New Year.

Christmas joys are upon us and we take pleasure in joining the glad refrain of a merry Christmas to all our friends and patrons.

Once again the Yuletide season is with us, and it is a pleasure, mingled with a feeling of delight, that the DAILY NEWS has the pleasure of extending to all its readers, advertisers and others the wish that they may all have an exceptionally merry Christmas, which, through the splendid support given the Daily News by all, will enable not only the editor, the reporter staff, the advertising staff and the composing room force to enjoy that which we now wish others, but also others whom it is necessary for the Daily News to bring gladness to. There will be no paper published tomorrow.

Santa Claus has, as usual, made his Christmas headquarters at our store, and on behalf of this most looked-for personage among the children of the realm, we wish to thank our many patrons for their liberal patronage and extend to each and all the SEASON'S GREETINGS.
